SPEAKBOOK

Le Speakbook est un outil de communication non-verbale pour les personnes qui ne peuvent pas parler et qui ont des difficultés à utiliser leurs mains ou les bras, mais qui conservent l'usage de leurs yeux. Cette version est destinée aux personnes qui savent lire et épeler. Pour les versions pour les non-lecteurs, les versions en langue étrangère, et l'édition de poche, allez sur le site acecent.re/speakbook

Mode d'emploi.

Vous aurez besoin du Speakbook, un marqueur noir effaçable, un chiffon pour effacer et un interlocuteur.

Vous vous asseyez, face à face avec votre interlocuteur, à environ un mètre de distance. En fonction de votre vision, diminuez ou augmentez la distance. Ouvrez le Speakbook à la page d'essai, à l'intérieur de la couverture arrière. La page est déjà remplie pour vous aider à apprendre les bases. Lorsque vous aurez compris le fonctionnement, écrivez vos propres pages, en utilisant les blancs. Pliez le livre sur lui-même et tenez-le entre vous. Vous êtes chacun face à une page d'essai, et vous voyez les yeux de l'autre à travers le trou. Choisissez sur la page ce que vous allez communiquer à votre interlocuteur. Lorsque vous avez décidé, indiquez à votre partenaire que vous êtes prêt à commencer, en clignant des yeux par exemple. Regardez le message que vous avez choisi pendant une seconde ou deux, puis le cercle de la même couleur que la bande sur laquelle le message est écrit. Votre partenaire suit maintenant vos mouvements oculaires - par exemple, il voit que vous avez regardé le côté supérieur gauche du tableau suivi par le cercle bleu, donc il sait que vous voulez dire "un verre d'eau". Il dit alors, "un verre d'eau" à haute voix, et vous le confirmez avec un clignement d'oeil, ou un autre signal choisi à l'avance.

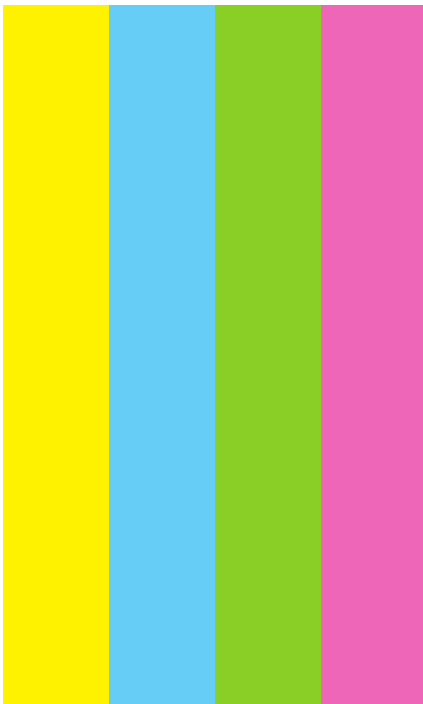

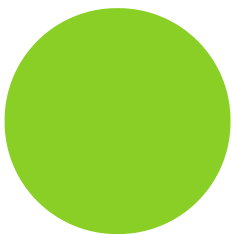

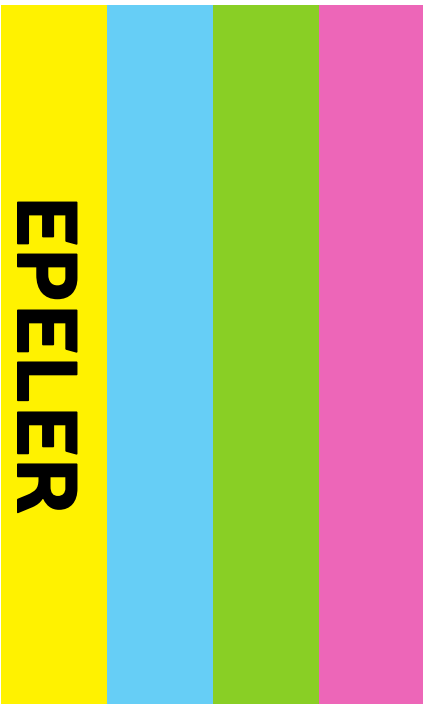

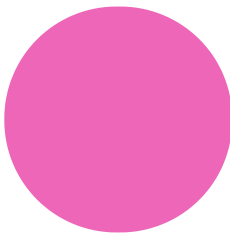

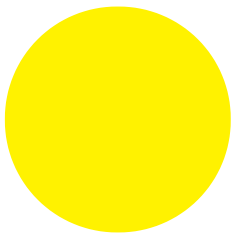

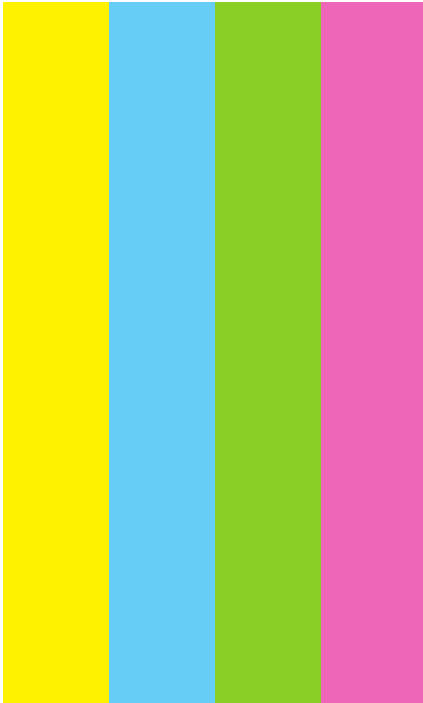

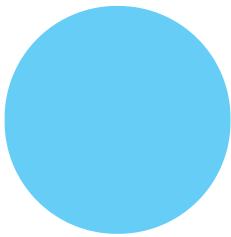

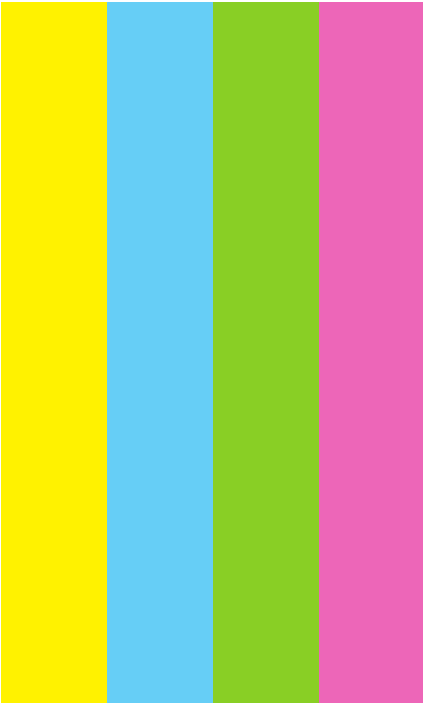

Ceci est la méthode de base pour utiliser le Speakbook. Maintenant il faut apprendre à utiliser les autres pages, parce que le vrai génie de Speakbook réside dans sa capacité à vous donner un accès facile à des centaines de phrases de votre choix, des phrases que vous pouvez changer à tout moment, avec seulement un chiffon humide et d'un coup de stylo.

Comment écrire sur Speakbook

En fait, ce que vous écrirez sur Speakbook dépendra de vos besoins particuliers. Peu importe ce que vous écrivez, il est important que chaque côté d'une double page possède le même texte, et que chaque page soit une image miroir de l'autre - comme dans l'exemple ci-dessus. Si vous et votre partenaire parlez des langues différentes, il suffit d'écrire une langue différente sur chaque côté.

Page pour épeler en utilisant les doigts.

Si vous avez encore l'usage de vos mains, cette page est pour vous. Vous pouvez épe-ler des mots ou des phrases à votre partenaire en les montrant du doigt. Les mots fréquemment utilisés peuvent être écrits dans les cases vides. Quand vous voulez revenir au livre principal pour communiquer, attirez l'attention sur „ACCUEIL“* .
